Castro Threatens Captured Rebels With Execution

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A threat of firing squads hung today over hundreds of anti-Castro invaders and others rounded up as "counter-revolutionaries" during the ill-fated invasion of Cuba.

Capital Mum On Castro Rap

WASHINGTON (AP)—Official comment today on a salvo of accusations fired at President Kennedy by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Spokesmen here declined to give a quick response to Castro's charge that "the threat of Kennedy is much like the threat of Hitler" and that the U.S. administration threatens the world with war.

Kennedy moved to build up greater unity for his position on Cuba and for possible future action on the thorny problem of growing Communist prestige in the Caribbean island.

The White House announced that Kennedy would see New York's Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller Tuesday afternoon. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is going to Independence, Mo., Tuesday to talk with former President Harry S. Truman.

These visits have been described as for the purpose of giving leaders of both parties full information. But an attempt to round up bipartisan support for the President seemed obvious.

Kennedy met Saturday with his predecessor, Dwight D. Eisenhower, at Camp David, Md., and got from the former Republican president a call to all Americans to support Kennedy in the Cuban crisis.

Another obvious goal of the administration is to stiffen Latin American nations against Communist penetration in the Western Hemisphere. Kennedy touched off this part of his Cuban campaign last week in a speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

He indicated that the United States would go it alone if other Western Hemisphere nations "should fail to meet their commitments against outside Communist penetration."

This campaign seemed to bear fruit over the weekend. In a joint declaration, Presidents Janio Quadros of Brazil and Arturo Frondizi of Argentina affirmed a stand against "direct or indirect interference by extra-continental factors" in hemisphere affairs.

Another concrete action was Honduras' breaking of diplomatic relations with Cuba. In Guatemala, President Miguel Ydigoras called on the United States to show its "guts" and act even more boldly.

INVASION FEARS GRIP FRANCE

3 Peace Officers Are Killed In Tennessee Gun Battle

SNEEDVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Six men have been charged with murder in connection with a gun battle in which three Hancock County officers were slain and the sheriff wounded seriously.

Killed in the sudden duel Saturday night were Sheriff's deputies Alex Morris, 48; A. J. Tyler, 50; and Constable C. B. Oaks, 35, all of Sneedville.

Sheriff Verlin Maxey, 50, was shot three times in the arm and abdomen, beaten and stomped. He was reported in fair condition at Knoxville, 70 miles southwest of this small mountain town near the Tennessee-Kentucky-Virginia border.

Those charged were: Mat Oaks, James Allen Horton, 19, and George Myers, 37, of Sneedville; and three of Myers' sons, E. A., 31, of Sneedville; Earl, 34, of Franklin, Ohio; and Carl, 38, of Miami, Ohio.

Matt Oaks, father of Constable Oaks was freed after posting $10,000 bond. The others were held in jail.

Investigators said the gunfight climaxed a period of ill feeling between Maxey and Constable Oaks that began several weeks ago when the sheriff arrested Oaks and charged him with drunkenness and speeding.

The grand jury later refused to indict Oaks on the charges.

Deputy Sheriff Elwood Hurd gave this account of the shooting: Saturday night, Oaks and two companions sped past the sheriff's cruiser in downtown Sneedville. The sheriff and Hurd gave chase.

Oaks pulled his car into his father's driveway, about one-half mile from town. He leaped from his car and Maxey and Hurd followed on foot. Meanwhile, deputies Morris, Tyler and Hubert Seals observed the chase and followed in another car. Morris and Tyler got out to assist the sheriff.

Maxey said he and Hurd were attacked in the darkness by four men as they sought to place Oaks under arrest.

Guns blazed. The sheriff fell with bullet wounds in the arm and abdomen and Morris and Tyler fell mortally wounded. C. B. Oaks died of a bullet wound in the chest.

Hurd said a man knocked him to the ground and began stomping him.

But the deputy drew his pistol and fired a tear gas bullet at his assailant.

Coroner John McNeil, who arrived at the scene moments later, said he found a "heavy man with blood-spattered undershirt" stomping the sheriff in the face and standing over him with a pistol.

McNeil said the man, whom he could not identify, cocked a pistol and growled: "He ain't dead yet, but he soon will be."

McNeil said he shoved the man aside and with the aid of his 15-year-old son, John Jr., loaded the sheriff into the ambulance and drove to a hospital.

Ohio Assembly Studies Utility Rate Formula

Governor's Request For Change in Plan Slated for Hearing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Republican-controlled legislature is about to give a whirl to another major change in state policy advocated by Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Last week, the House Judiciary Committee turned thumbs down on a DiSalle proposal to abolish the death penalty — the governor's second defeat in two years on the issue.

This week—the 104th General Assembly's 17th in session — the House Elections and Federal Relations Committee will begin a study of DiSalle's proposal to change the formula on which the Utilities Commission sets the rates which may be charged by telephone, electric and gas companies.

The first hearing on two measures which would junk the traditional "reconstruction cost new, less observed depreciation" formula (RCN, for short) is scheduled for Tuesday night.

Two years ago, DiSalle failed to persuade a Democratic-dominated legislature that such a change would benefit Ohio consumers. He contends Ohio utility rates are higher than they should be because of what he calls an antiquated rate-base formula.

One bill proposes "fair value" formula in place of the present reconstruction cost new formula, based on the current cost of replacing a utility system after deducting an allowance for depreciation of the present plant.

The other, backed by the administration, would fit RCN into a formula giving equal weight to actual plant expenditures, less accumulated depreciation.

A Republican policy proposal to subsidize Cuyahoga County for election of state representatives will get its first hearing tonight in the House Elections and Federal Relations Committee. The proposal is in the form of an amendment to the Ohio constitution, requiring statewide approval of voters.

The House Judiciary Committee will consider a series of court bills Tuesday and Wednesday. They include measures to create a Fremont city court and another to expand jurisdiction of Painesville and Willoughby city courts.

The Senate will vote Tuesday on a bill to establish a statewide educational television network and a House-passed measure to require state inspection of all school buses carrying more than nine pupils.

Across the Statehouse, the measures to give Ohio a uniform commercial code and to require that materials and supplies for public use must be produced in the United States.

Although House action on Senate changes in a much-debated local government bill is down for the first order of business in the House tonight, GOP leaders indicated that action might be delayed a day or two before sending it to the governor for an expected veto.

They have expressed confidence that a veto could be overridden.

The measure would give counties, municipalities and townships an extra $15 million from license tag fees now used to run the Highway Safety Department. That department then would operate on gasoline tax money, a step the administration says would weaken Ohio's ability to match federal road money accordingly.

Expected to reach the House floor for a vote, possibly Wednesday, is a proposal to permit alternate forms of county government if voters approve.

The bill would permit election or appointment of a county executive to serve as a top administrator and allow an increase in commissioners to a total of nine.

The measure would also allow creation of a public works department and contains provisions for direct control over the county welfare and health departments through appointments.

State Income Tax Labeled Possibility
CLEVELAND (AP) — Lt. Gov. John W. Donahey says adoption of a state income tax is a possibility in the next legislature.

Donahey, appearing on KYW-TV's "Open Circuit" Sunday, said of a state income tax: "Yes, I think it's a possibility... in the next two years. I've heard a good many arguments for it, and it seems to be the fairest tax and the most equitable one."

In the event of its establishment, said Donahey, other taxes—chiefly sales and city income taxes—probably would be abolished to eliminate double taxation.

A governor's committee to study Ohio's tax needs soon will be formed, the lieutenant governor said. It will report to the 1963 legislature.

Police Probe Entries at Local Firms
Circleville Police today investigated two burglaries at local firms during the weekend.

One of the burglaries was discovered at 12:25 a. m. Sunday at the Circleville Iron & Metal Co., 619 Clinton St. The other entry was reported today at the Pickaway Grain Co., W. Main St.

Patrolmen Jay Curry and Jack Mills spotted the Iron & Metal burglary while on patrol duty. They said entry was made by breaking a rear window.

According to the officers, nothing was missing although pry marks were found on doors and desk drawers inside the building.

Laos Troops Seek To Mend Defenses against Pro-Reds

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Hundreds of government troops were airlifted to the front north of Vientiane today to shore up crumbling defenses against the pro-Communist rebels in the final hours before a cease-fire in the civil war.

Pathet Lao rebels pushed southward along the main north-south highway during the weekend, sending royal army troops into a headlong retreat of 30 to 40 miles.

The rebels bolstered their position as India agreed to convene a three-nation commission to supervise a truce which would freeze military lines.

Joseph Godber, undersecretary of the Foreign Office, told the House of Commons that Andrei A. Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, and the British ambassador in Moscow had worked out the agreement.

"Gromyko has assured the ambassador of the desire of the Soviet government for an immediate cease-fire to precede an international conference of 14 nations which should now meet, provided the Swiss government concur, in Geneva on May 12, Godber said.

The 14 nations are Britain, the Soviet Union, the United States, Communist China, France, Cambodia, Communist North Viet Nam, South Viet Nam, Laos, Thailand, Burma, India, Poland and Canada.

Godber said pertinent communications would be made public Tuesday.

Verification that the fighting has stopped will be the responsibility of an Indian-Canadian-Polish commission.

Three American military advisers may have been captured in the rebel thrust to Vang Khy, a major government military headquarters 80 miles north of here on the Vientiane-Luang Prabang highway linking the administrative and royal capitals.

There were conflicting reports on the fate of the Americans. One source said one of them was wounded.

"We said they were not wearing U. S. uniforms.

U.S. Intelligence Agency Probed
CIA's Cuban Role Due For Close Checkup

NEW YORK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy is working with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor in an investigation of the Central Intelligence Agency, the New York Times said today.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper said President Kennedy asked his brother to help investigate the CIA's part in the Cuban crisis and in all other aspects of the secret defense activities of the United States.

Taylor, former Army chief of staff, was recalled from retirement Saturday to conduct a survey of the organization and capacity of the United States to deal with such things as subversion, counterespionage and guerrilla warfare.

The Times story said in part: The CIA, which operates under the President and the National Security Council, "helped organize, train, finance and arm the recent unsuccessful efforts of the Cuban refugees to overthrow the Castro government."

The President turned to his brother to help with the investigation because of his confidence in the attorney general and because the CIA's role in the Cuban attack has raised a number of highly sensitive political and international problems.

The failure of the Cuban uprising has been generally attributed to a faulty CIA intelligence estimate that the Cuban people were ready to revolt against the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Army in Algeria Turns to Mutiny

PARIS (AP) — Fearful of a paratroop invasion by army mutineers from Algeria, the French government today announced plans to call up reservists to strengthen its defenses at home.

Premier Michel Debre in a communique aid units loyal to the government would be "reinforced by individual callups which will permit the constitution of reserve units with regular officers."

Debre announced the callup after a night of electric tension sparked by his own warning that the government feared an airborne attempt to seize the French capital.

This morning the Interior Ministry announced that "fear of what could have happened during the night on the territory of metropolitan France did not materialize."

As public fear of an invasion subsided somewhat, most civilians went to work as usual. The ban on commercial aviation was lifted for four airfields in the Paris region and one field in Alsace, near the Swiss border.

But airports at Marseille, Nice and Toulouse — those closest to Algeria — remained closed to traffic, with buses, tanks and trucks spotting their runways.

The situation in Algeria remained confused. The insurgent junta claimed the whole army in Algeria had rallied to it. But the French government said Gen. de Gaulle, with headquarters at Tlemcen, west of Oran, and still loyal to De Gaulle, reported he was in contact with all army detachments in western Algeria with the exception of those in Oran itself.

This would mean that most of the army in the Oran area is standing by De Gaulle. The insurgent junta, broadcasting from Algiers, claimed that the whole army in Algeria had rallied to his cause.

The Interior Ministry said 1,500 civil defense volunteers had been enrolled in Paris for guard duty

Electric Rate Hike Plan To Be Protested
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Protests over the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co.'s proposal to raise rates have been received from Chillicothe and the Adams County community of Peebles, the Utilities Commission said today.

Circleville is one of the communities involved in the proposed rate hike. The matter has been discussed in City Council, but no definite action has been taken.

The company wants to charge the same rates in 59 municipalities outside Franklin County as it does in Columbus and Franklin County. Twenty-two counties are involved. Company officials say the increase would amount to about 40 to 80 cents a month for home electricity users.

Commission staff members said about 60,000 customers in Adams, Athens, Brown, Delaware, Gallia, Highland, Hocking, Jackson, Knox, Fayette, Perry, Washington, Lawrence, Licking, Madison, Scioto, Morgan and Vinton counties are involved. They estimate the increase would amount to about $929,000 more a year.

Commission hearings begin May 16. The Chillicothe and Peebles protests apply to the report of the commission secretary, which set the stage for the hearings.

Driver Suffers Minor Injury
One person was slightly injured in a car-truck collision at 9:20 p. m. yesterday at N. Court St. and Northridge Road.

Clyde P. Hinton, 65, Route 1, Chillicothe, driver of the auto, suffered minor injuries, local police said. Donald England, 37, Falmouth, Ky., driver of the tractor-trailer assembly, was not hurt.

Hinton told Patrolman Richard Anderson he stopped for a light at the intersection. He said the truck struck his auto in the rear.

Patrolman Anderson said the Hinton car was slightly damaged. He said the truck was not damaged.

Algerian Squabble Tests Loyalties
EDITOR'S NOTE — Associated Press correspondent Andrew Borowiec has been covering the Algerian story for nearly four years—in Paris, Algiers and Tunis. Here he tells of the agonizing dilemma facing the French army.

By ANDREW BOROWIEC
PARIS (AP) — The right-wing military putsch in Algiers has put the French army in an agonizing dilemma.

The choice is whether to obey the President of the Republic and fire if necessary on the mutineers or to pick up the banner of revolt to keep the army's oath and "Keep Algeria French."

The oath to maintain French rule over Algeria was solemnly proclaimed with rolling drums and blaring trumpets in the sunlit forum of Algiers after a similar coup in May 1958.

That coup brought President Charles de Gaulle to power.

Now the generals who helped De Gaulle three years ago accuse him of violating his pledge by his willingness to give Algeria independence if that is the choice of the Algerian people.

According to reports filtering from Algeria, the coup was staged by elite Foreign Legion paratroop regiments whose French officers bitterly oppose De Gaulle's Algerian policy.

Added to their dismay at the prospect of another French retreat was fear that Algeria's independence would end the Legion's existence. According to the laws of France, Foreign Legion units can only be stationed in overseas possessions. Loss of Algeria will leave France only a scattering of small islands overseas.

Apparently, shortly after the coup, other units of the French army were joining the revolt.

A great number of army career officers bitterly resent De Gaulle's self-determination plan and his willingness to negotiate with the Moslem rebels. They feel that French withdrawal from Algeria will be a death blow to the army's pride.

Draftees serving in Algeria did not oppose the 1958 coup, and there is little chance they will oppose their officers on a large scale. Thus the fate of the army is in the hands of its officers.

Some 500,000 French soldiers sailors and airmen serve in Algeria. There are about 250,000 in France, mainly in training centers, administrative units and several skeleton divisions. Some 50,000 are in Germany.

At this stage it is impossible to trace the dividing line cutting through the army. One thing is certain—most French career officers now stationed in France and Germany have served in Algeria and have been at one time or other involved in an effort to keep it French.

to supplement gendarmes and troops posted at the key structures of Paris.

Labor organizations, from right to left, scheduled a one-hour token strike at 5 p. m. to express their allegiance to De Gaulle.

Reports from throughout the country voiced a resounding chorus of support for the government.

North of Lille and at Strasbourg, frontier police tightened their inspection. In the Lyon region of central France, security guards removed the propellers from private planes to keep them grounded.

The air flight center at Air-en-Provence, clearing house for plane information over the Mediterranean, kept its radar beamed toward the Algerian coast for the first sign of any troop carriers headed toward France.

Each large provincial city was organizing a civilian militia to fight off any paratroop attack.

The government filed an open indictment against all persons leading or assisting the insurrection. The penalties will be death or life imprisonment.

The Finance Ministry cut off all transactions between France and Algeria, a step that eventually could freeze the insurgents' (Continued on Page 2)

Driver Faces Court for Intoxication

A Columbus man charged with driving under the influence of intoxicants headed the Circleville Municipal Court docket during the weekend.

Sherman L. Smalley, 27, pleaded innocent to the charges filed by the State Highway Patrol. He was fined $150 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had his driver's rights suspended for one year. He had a previous OVI offense in 1956, according to the court.

Other violators cited by the State Highway Patrol were:

Theodore H. Hankins, 24, London: $25 and costs for speeding at 75 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

James F. Givens, 20, Columbus: $20 and costs for speeding at 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

finances since the Algerian currency is based on the French franc.

As the right-wing mutineers in Algeria claimed more and more of the troops there were joining their rebellion against De Gaulle's Algerian policy labor and professional organizations from left to right called on their members to defend the republic.

Volunteers by the hundreds streamed to the Interior Ministry in Paris, clamoring for arms. They were given rifles or carbines and partial uniforms, organized into 10-man squads and sent out to guard public buildings.

As dawn broke over the French capital, thousands of tank-supported troops and security forces were on guard at key points.

Much of France went on a virtual war footing after Premier Micheal Debre told a nationwide TV-Radio audience Sunday night that an attack from Algeria could come anytime. Rumors flew that 1,500 paratroopers in 30 planes had taken off from Algiers.

De Gaulle in a TV appearance Sunday announced he had assumed dictatorial powers to combat the military junta that took control of Algiers and Oran in a bloodless coup Saturday.

The president promised to use all means to end what he called the "odious and stupid adventure" led by retired Gens. Maurice Challe, Raoul Salan, Andre Zeller and Edmond Jouhaud. He warned French forces in Algeria to remain loyal to the government or face court-martial.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The main lesson from the Cuban invasion disaster is that you can't beat something with nothing.

What the invasion lacked was ideas and enough muscle. But the lesson here applies elsewhere.

President Kennedy said last week: "There are from this useful lessons. It is clear that the forces of communism are not to be underestimated in Cuba or anywhere else in the world."

Fidel Castro, at the beginning of his war against Fulgencio Batista's dictatorship, seemed to have nothing much more than resentment.

It was only after a year of fighting Batista in the mountains that he broadcast an idea to draw mass support.

This was his program of agrarian reform—land for the landless. When he took over, even though he became a dictator, he put in this reform and others.

It's easy for Americans, with their distaste for dictatorship, to think that because they despise Castro all Cubans do. But there are two kinds of dictatorships.

One is simply repressive, selfish, and ignores the people's needs. There is the other which rallies support with benefits or promises of benefits long overdue. Castro's is the latter kind.

To assume Cubans, after a long history of dictatorships, value freedom above all else when they haven't had the kind of freedom Americans enjoy, is simply to think of Cubans in American terms, not in their terms.

There was some astonishment—and the American Central Intelligence Agency reportedly badly advised Kennedy on this—that the Cubans didn't rise up and sink

Castro when the invasion began. There shouldn't have been. The exiled Cubans making the invasion represented shades of thinking from left to right. If they had won, it is easy to imagine the subsequent, and perhaps bloody, struggles between them for power.

But so far as this writer knows they did not try to win the Cuban masses away from Castro by programs which might make them look more attractive than the dictator.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Ohio temperatures were among the warmest of the nation Sunday night, surging into the upper 60s and low 70s by daylight.

Columbus had 69, Chesapeake 70, and Cleveland 60, coolest reading in the state.

Skies were mostly cloudy, and scattered showers and a few thunderstorms occurred shortly after daylight.

A low pressure area centered over northern Illinois this morning caused southerly winds over Ohio.

Afternoon temperatures are forecast to reach the 70s, but with occasional cooling showers. Winds will shift to northwesterly Tuesday, as the low pressure system moves to the east of Ohio.

Temperatures will be somewhat cooler. Showers may linger in the state tonight and Tuesday.

By James Marlow

Castro undoubtedly has broad support for some of his programs in Cuba, even though he may have brought hatred and resentment with others.

As a minimum for winning popular support before the invasion the rebels would have had to promise to keep the good Castro reforms while abolishing the unpopular ones.

Without proclaiming such a program in advance, the rebels seemed to be nothing more than a brand of men who didn't like Castro and whose only program was to get rid of him.

So, before the invasion began, the rebels hadn't prepared the population with ideas. And, as it turned out, from a military standpoint they also were poorly prepared, both in numbers and equipment.

But this disaster raises questions which go further, and are more important, than Cuba alone. The United States, it's clear now, helped prepare the invasion.

If this government was so far off base in understanding both the attitude of the Cuban people and what the invasion needed in as and muscle, then how much better is it in other areas where it is trying to stave off communism?

If in Asia, or Africa or Latin America the Communists promise needed reforms and benefits but this country simply puts its effort into fighting communism, particularly if it backs reactionary regimes, the outcome looks gloomy, indeed.

This may be what Kennedy had in mind when he mentioned more lessons than one that needed to be learned from Cuba.

Birth Control Devices Said Illegal in Ohio since 1876

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Connecticut, with its law banning use of birth control devices, has been the target of considerable criticism, and not a little levity.

But what is not generally known, apparently, is that in Ohio it also is illegal to possess such a device. And it has been, with few changes, since 1876.

The ban is contained in Ohio's obscenity statute. The law has come in for more than unusual attention lately because of an attempt in the legislature to tighten up its provisions dealing with circulation of questionable literature, and because of an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court by a Cleveland woman.

In the latter case, the woman was found guilty of having obscene pictures in her home, but is protesting that they were left there by a former roomer.

The part of the law dealing with contraceptives reads like this:

"No person shall . . . have in his possession or under his control . . . a drug, medicine, article or thing intended for the prevention of conception."

No exceptions to the surprise generally were doctors and druggists. Most were under the impression that limiting the sale through prescriptions took care of the provisions of various state and federal laws.

The original obscenity law, approved April 27, 1872, called for a fine of $5 to $50 and a minimum term of 30 days in the county jail.

for sale or possession of obscene or indecent literature.

On April 8, 1876, the General Assembly changed the law to include the ban on contraceptive devices and drugs and raised the penalties. It was amended in 1885 and 1894, raising the penalties again so that the maximum jail sentence was five years and the top fine $2,000.

Minor changes were made in 1939 and 1943. Changes in 1955 altered only the penalty clauses into their present form—one to seven years in prison and a fine of $200 to $2,000.

Changes in the law have been largely the result of periodic crusades by purity organizations, which do not have much trouble getting legislators to boost penalties and broaden definitions. Many legislators will say privately that most of the law is useless for practical purposes, but they can't afford publicly to appear to be on the side of obscenity.

Farm Trend Leans to Larger Units

Save the Family Farm has been a loud political cry in the U. S. for many years. Lately there is a tendency to say it cannot be done, that the trend of the agricultural economy is again it.

That depends on definition. If champions are trying to save a 40-acre submarginal tract of land on which a family has a mean existence, there is no justification for it. I could be "saved" only by constant outpourings of tax levies on other people.

The modern definition of the family farm, accepted by most agricultural economists is one on which the management and most of the labor comes from the resident family. This type of farm comprises about 95 per cent of all farm units in the United States.

As the number of farm units declines, family farms gain in numbers because greater mechanization enables one family to manage and crop enough land to make a living. The family is helped by the fact that as mechanization and modern methods are applied, the unit costs of production go down.

Apparently the trend toward larger units which one family can operate successfully is solving the problem. It is not so much a question of saving the family farm as it is of when the smaller, uneconomical farms are to be absorbed into units big enough to make a family a living.

You Eat 10 Times Own Weight

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The average American, despite the rising interest in dieting, still eats 10 times his own weight in a year.

Geographical tidbit: Many U.S.A. towns are named after foods. Examples: Rice, Kan.; Tea, S.D.; Tomato, Ark.; Biscuit, Ky., and Cocoa, Fla.

Do men have more willpower than women? Maybe not in all things, but many doctors claim it's easier for men to break themselves of the smoking habit.

The bloodhound is reported to be the only animal whose testimony is accepted as evidence in a court of law in this country. (But the bird world can claim this distinction too—through the stool pigeon.)

Sports Note: There has been only one no-hitter baseball game pitched on an opening day in the major leagues. It was by Bob Feller of Cleveland in 1940.

Marital Reward: Sal Mineo says he knows a guy who gives his wife everything her little heart desires. He works like a dog so that she can have the finest of everything but she never fails to show her appreciation: Every morning she gift-wraps his lunch!

Had your eyes checked lately? Some 90 million Americans now wear glasses.

Our Quotable Notables: "The man who dies rich dies disgraced."—Andrew Carnegie.

Memorable Legislation: A law was passed in Maryland making it illegal to carry a concealed slingshot.

Do your feet feel tired at night? Small wonder. For each mile you walk you put from 125 to 250 tons of stress on your tootsies.

Someone has figured out this as a sure-fire success formula in our civilization: "Invent something that costs a nickel to produce, sells for a dollar—and is habit forming."

Literary Payoff: Mrs. Blanche Sercombe, long-time Hotel Edison chambermaid, recently published her autobiography, "I've Had My Tuppence". Now she herself has a maid to make the bed and do the housework in her home.

Wisecrack of the Week: "Middle age," says actor Walter Slezak, "is that period in life when some folks try to live down the reputation they acquired by living it up!"

Medicine has always had its skeptics. Voltaire once defined a physician as "a man who pours drugs, of which he knows little into bodies, of which he knows less."

Menthol-flavored cigarettes are doing so well that tobacco people now are experimenting with flavors ranging from cinnamon and clove to peach and geranium.

Lifeguards in China have a tough time. They get paid only when they save a life. (Wasn't it in old China, too, that a patient paid his doctor only so long as he remained healthy?)

It was Clarence Darrow who observed, "Getting married is a good deal like going into a restaurant with friends. You order what you want, and then when you see what the other fellow has got you wish you had taken that."

Foreign Policy Tough for Kennedy By George Sokolsky

President Kennedy is having a tough time formulating his foreign policy. Perhaps too many cooks are at this broth. Rusk, Bowles, Stevenson, Harriman, to say nothing of Walter Lippmann. It has been suggested that each of these persons could be Secretary of State. Perhaps the difficulty is that each one would like to be or presumes that he is Secretary of State.

As one goes back to read President Kennedy's campaign speeches and his first Inaugural Address and then looks at the record, they do not jibe. Something happened between the Inaugural Address, barely three months ago, and today to change the attitude of this Administration toward its foreign policy.

Professor Hans J. Morgenthau, one of the more competent students of American policy, makes an interesting point concerning men and policies. He said:

"... The new men must work within old circumstances, domestic and international, and the circumstances will put their excellence to the test. Regardless of their convictions and intentions, they are the prisoners of the past—of established institutions, policies, and habits of mind."

Thus, as regards the Cuban situation, the United States is bound by error of negating the Platt Amendment and making itself a part of the Organization of American States, which means that such neutralist countries as Ecuador and Brazil, to say nothing of Venezuela and Mexico have to be consulted before we defend Miami. Actually, the United States does not have to do anything this country does not choose to do, but it is difficult to get out of entangling arrangements. The policy of disengagement, which is a new concept of isolationism, is very difficult to pursue. How does the United States disengage itself from obligations solemnly undertaken?

Thus, "the emancipation of the colonial and semi-colonial peoples of the world has entered its last stage in Africa," complicates our affairs to a point where we have driven Belgium out of the Congo and are now interfering with Portugal in Angola.

Will we have any Allies left? De Gaulle is answering that in his antipathies in NATO and the United Nations. We prefer Algeria to France, then why should France encourage American leadership?

We might speak of gratitude but as one studies history, he will not find the word, gratitude, anywhere. Politics is a realistic device for survival and one nation may survive at the expense of another, even at the expense of a friend.

The genius of Talleyrand, for instance, was that he concentrated on the survival of France. He lived through Louis XVI, the Revolution, Napoleon and the Congress of Vienna, always to serve and strengthen France. He outwitted greater and mightier men because his purpose was always clear and his target always before him, namely, the survival of France. Talleyrand left a tradition in France which de Gaulle has pursued throughout his career. He has refused to walk to the right or the left of his line and France was never weaker than when de Gaulle asserted France's strength.

This we need to remember at all times: Soviet Russia's progress in 1960 was enormous and the prognosis is that it will continue to make gains in 1961. The African League of Positive Neutralists, call it what you will, surely means that Soviet Russian imperialism is replacing French imperialism in Africa and Asia, and whereas the United States objected to French imperialism, it shows no courage in opposing Soviet imperialism.

Even in Laos, we have thus far talked more courageously than we have acted, despite the undeniable fact that if Laos goes to the Soviet, South Vietnam and Cambodia must go and that this imperils Thailand and Burma. If anyone in the State Department knows any geography at all, he must know that if the Bay of Bengal is Sovietized, India is a dead pigeon.

The Kennedy Administration must move swiftly. Soviet imperialism is moving too fast and obviously seeks a containment policy against the United States. Kennedy could head a country that is isolated not only from world trade but from world leadership. Soviet Russia is now courageously moving into the American hemisphere and thus far, the United States has taken no steps to protect its interests. There may be a strategy to support such a policy of Fabianism, but what it is no one can estimate.

Plants demonstrated their remarkable ability to travel on the wind after the volcanic eruption on Krakatau in 1883. The explosion killed every living thing on the Indonesian island, yet in 10 years the naked isle was again clothed with vegetation.

Back in 1912, when William Jay Gaynor was mayor of New York, a prominent municipal judge died unexpectedly while presiding over a trial. Even before the body had been removed, a brass lawyer badge into Mayor Gaynor's office and announced bluntly, "I propose myself to take the deceased judge's place."

"Nothing would please me more," said the mayor emphatically. "See if you can arrange it with the undertaker."

 5. Bunions can be cured by surgery. True — False —
- Bunions bulge when the big toe turns toward the point of the shoe. Like the other end of a see-saw, the big toe joint at the ball of the foot juts out. As shoes squeeze this lump, leathery callous covers the skin, a lubricating sac (bursa) caps the bone and tiny bone tumors fill the bulge.
- Pain erupts when the joint or bursa inflames into arthritis or bursitis, or when the growing bone crushes tiny nerves.
2. True.
- Short shoes and pointed pumps force the big toe out of position. High heels add your whole weight to this force. Since men wear broader, shorter and lower heels, female feet grow more and bigger bunions.
3. True.
- Bunions grow on feet that never wore shoes. If the big toe's muscle attachments are a little off center, they'll pull like reins turning a horse's head. Short bones in back of the big toe sometimes create a weak, easily-stretched joint.
4. False.
- Stepping into high heels won't hurt your bunions as long as you wear comfortable walkers most of the time. Roundtoed oxfords with 1½-inch heels and broad, strong soles may not seem glamorous, but neither are painful bunions!
5. True — although not every bunion needs a surgeon.

Stretching and massage after hot soaks can put new life into old bunions and a thick pad between your first (big) and second toes can make most big toes go straight.

Don't let bunions sweep you off your feet! Let sense, shoes and surgery curb or cure them!

NEW YORK (AP) — The Wall Street financial district is getting frayed around the edges.

And big days in the stock market point up the physical shortcomings of the famed money capital of the world. A determined move is underway to do something about it.

The aim: to replace the decayed outer edges with new financial and world trade buildings and to make the district a round-the-clock community instead of a ghost town after offices close.

New York's financial district—less than one square mile, bounded on three sides by the harbor—largely took its present form in the first 30 years of this century. After the 1929 stock market crash Wall Street vegetated for a time in bad repute.

"Young men didn't want to work down here," says David

Rockefeller, president of Chase Manhattan Bank and chairman of the Downtown-Lower Manhattan Association.

But he pointed out in an interview that since World War II the financial community has been rehabilitated in the public mind and there now is no dearth of job applicants. Rockefeller himself went to work in the bank when he was 31, after jobs with New York's Mayor LaGuardia, with Anna Rosenberg in the U.S. Office of Defense, Health and Welfare Service, and a wartime hitch in the U.S. Army.

In the last 10 years, 21 new commercial buildings have gone up in the once becalmed financial district, adding about 10.5 million square feet of office space, for a total of 34 million.

But these have risen in the district's already crowded core, as century-old lofts on the fringes have been sinking into decay, threatening still worse to come, if unchecked.

In recent years, too, some of the big banks have moved headquarters to mid-Manhattan, brokerage houses have opened large branches there, and some industrial firms have moved their home offices uptown.

The New York Stock Exchange in the heart of the district, is looking for larger quarters it says it badly needs.

Nearly a half million persons work in the Wall Street area but only about 2,000 live there. The workaday inhabitants labor at banking, stock and commodity trading, insurance, shipping, transportation, public utilities, real estate, law, accounting, and in the headquarters of the big industrial corporations still there.

The rehabilitation committee headed by Rockefeller proposes to replace the decaying and often vacant buildings along the waterfronts with a new stock exchange, big and small office buildings, a hotel, and room for stores, restaurants and other services needed to make this a living as well as trading area. To this end, middle income apartment houses are included.

Why a round-the-clock community? David, youngest of John D. Jr.'s four sons, says: "For one thing, to keep stores and restaurants going to serve the working population. At present these depend largely on midday trade alone, and that's hard going for them."

"For another, so that people can walk to work. The middle income apartments I'm sure will be eagerly sought by persons working here. And this will make it easier to get and keep skilled workers."

State Bonus Payoff
Due To Start Soon

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—With the first bonus checks scheduled for mailing within 10 days, veterans have stepped up their claims to more than 1,000 per day.

The Veterans Division received 9,421 bonus applications during the week following the March 29 announcement that $100 million in bonds had been sold to finance the payments.

Up to then, the claims averaged 2,000 to 3,000 weekly.

Thus far, the division has received 305,556 of an anticipated 450,000 applications from veterans of the past four wars.

Director Arnold Maggarr said his 130 employees will be able to mail about 1,200 checks daily after a backlog of 100,000 claims are paid. These were held up pending court suits that unsuccessfully challenged the 1960 bonus law.

The deadline for filing claims is Dec. 31, 1961, and the state expects to complete payments by March 1962.

The claims are funneled through three branches of the division—administrative, certification and payment.

When the applications are received, they are stamped with the date and time of arrival, assigned claim numbers, and logged in on ledger sheets. Each veteran is sent a postal card listing his claim number.

The veteran's claim and related correspondence go into a permanent file and his master card is filed alphabetically.

Claims examiners check every detail to insure that the applications are valid.

In the payment branch, the amount due each veteran is figured on the basis of $9 a month for stateside service and $15 a month for overseas duty—with the maximum $300 and $500, respectively.

After processing is completed, claims are checked by the department of revenue, which will deduct any delinquent taxes from the bonus.

Mushrooms On CFD Menu

The Circleville Fire Department had mushrooms aplenty during the weekend.

An unknown gatherer of the woods delicacy brought six pounds to the firehouse Friday and another 10 pounds Saturday. Firemen bought them all.

The Circleville firefighters said the mushrooms reportedly came from Bull Creek in the Laurelville area. They said most of them were of the sponge and wood varieties.

Another interesting story cropped up during the weekend. It was reported about 100 mushrooms were spied in the lawn at Dr. E. S. Shane's office, 137 W. Franklin St. However, about 50 of the mushrooms here fell to the blades of a lawnmower before they were noticed.

Businessmen Debate Effect Of New Kennedy Tax Setup

NEW YORK (AP)—President Kennedy's tax program stirred up controversy in business and financial circles the last week.

The President told Congress his aim was to modernize business and create 500,000 jobs.

A lot of business men didn't see it that way.

Kennedy proposed, among other things, a special tax incentive for business to modernize and expand plants, withholding taxes on dividends and interest, and repeal of special tax treatment given dividends.

Some business men expressed a preference for an increase in their depreciation allowance as a means of spurring the rate of plant expansion.

Kennedy contended that while the tax incentive plan would cut tax revenues by $1.7 billion a year, the higher depreciation allowance would cost $3.4 billion.

He said his proposal would bring about a big increase in employment in such industries as construction, lumber, steel, cement and machinery.

The proposals on dividends and interest seemed sure to draw widespread opposition from the nation's 15 million stockowners and others who draw interest on bonds, mortgages and savings.

The President wants to repeal the exclusion from income of the first $50 of dividends and the four per cent tax credit on dividends. He said a proposed 20 per cent tax would bring in $450 million annually.

Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, contended this would be double taxation on the full amount of dividend and interest income because corporations pay tax on the money they pay out in dividends.

"The administration's proposals to levy an even stiffer penalty on millions of investors, already harassed by a dividend tax that is patently unjust, moves exactly in the wrong direction," he said.

"Economic growth is not going to be stimulated by taking money out of the pockets of millions of taxpayers—particularly these in the lower income brackets—and the administration's proposals would do just that."

Also on the Washington scene, the Senate passed Kennedy's bill raising the $1 hourly minimum wage to $1.25 by 1963 and extending coverage to an additional 4,086,000 workers, and the House passed his legislation allowing men to retire at 62 and otherwise broadening the Social Security system.

Retail Merchants Meet

Hal D. Dickenson has reminded all retail merchants of a special meeting slated for 7:30 p. m. today at the BPO Elks Home, 215 N. Court St.

Business was apprehensive about the deteriorating Cuban situation and its international implications. This anxiety was felt on the stock market and the long advance was interrupted.

However, there was no dimming of the burgeoning optimism about the business outlook.

The steel industry, most important beacon in the economic seas, flashed what some saw as a go-ahead signal.

Production rose last week for the fifth straight week to a 10-month high of more than 60 per cent of capacity.

The trade publication, Iron Age, found "real buoyancy" in demand for steel for the first time since the upturn began.

Plants fired up more furnaces and put more men to work. Automobile production hit the highest level of the year with every one of the industry's 49 plants building cars. It was the first week this year that all had operated simultaneously. Output of 126,137 passenger cars was scheduled, compared with 114,110 the prior week. Car sales in the first week of April picked up, totaling 128,900, a 2½ per cent gain over the early March rate.

Bond volume on the New York Stock Exchange increased to $37,445,000 in value during the week from $33,757,000 the previous week.

Weekly volume on the stock market declined to 24,716,960 shares from 25,670,470 the prior week.

Social Security Benefits Depend on Wages in Account

E. H. Biedenholz, manager of the Social Security District Office, Chillicothe, has pointed out several factors concerning the amount of benefits received under the social security program.

Biedenholz said the amount of benefits payable to a worker and his dependents at retirement, if he becomes disabled, or to his survivors in case of death, depends upon the amount of wages posted to his social security account.

The Social Security Administration is responsible for keeping an accurate and up to date account of each earnings record. However, the cooperation of employers and employees is needed in maintaining these records. A person working for someone else should be sure his employer gets his correct name and social security account number when he starts to work. If a pay slip or withholding statement has an incorrect name or account number, the worker should call this to the attention of his employer, Biedenholz said.

The employer should also make sure the correct names and social security account numbers are on the quarterly reports of earnings sent to the Internal Revenue Service.

A person who is self-employed should pay his social security self-employment tax and report his net earnings at the end of each year if those net earnings are $400 or more, Biedenholz said. These reports must be based on records of Christian social action and to afford opportunity for talks with congressmen and government agency personnel regarding specific issues.

The convocation, the Methodist Church's first national social action gathering of the 1960 - 64 quadrennium, is sponsored by the church's General Board of Christian Social Concerns, whose headquarters is in Washington D. C.

5 Columbus Man Admits Stabbing of Woman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bruce William Carter, 37, was scheduled to have a preliminary hearing today on a second-degree murder charge stemming from the stab slaying of Helen Pauline Allen, 38.

The woman's body, fully clothed, was found in her bathtub Sunday. Police said she had been stabbed several times in the chest and neck with a hunting knife. They said Carter admitted the slaying but that he gave no reason.

Biedenholz stated the Social Security Administration encourages working people to check their social security accounts periodically if there is a question whether they are getting proper credit. A convenient card form for requesting a statement of the earnings reported to your social security account is available at the nearest social security office. The social security office in this area is located at 32 W. Main St., Chillicothe.

Young Girl Complains of Messy Roommate

By VIVIAN BROWN
A girl can take just so much from a roommate — school girl or career girl. After that she looks for a solution or wants to dissolve the partnership, judging by letters. Here are some:

Q. "What do you suggest doing about a roommate who is sloppy? She drops her clothes everywhere. Even if reminded doesn't pick them up if she is not in the mood. I like her otherwise. How can I cure her of this bad habit?"

A. Stop being a maid to her. Tolerate her sloppiness for a few days, living tossed garments around until she gets disgusted and picks them up.

Q. "My roommate is inconsiderate. She studies late, burning a bright light and I can't sleep. Earlier, she listens to the radio, reads or talks on the telephone when I am trying to study. How can I solve this without causing too much friction?"

A. "If you cannot get together on study periods, suggest she play the radio in a low tone. The problem of the bright light could be solved by making her a gift of the goose-necked lamp that she could use on her desk. These are inexpensive and usually keep the light over the necessary area."

Q. "I work as a salesgirl in a department store. I was hired in summer and when they offered me a permanent job, I transferred to night school. A girl who works with me suggested sharing an apartment, and although I was not too fond of her I decided to do it to cut expenses. She doesn't give me phone messages and has been hounding in on my dates who call when I am at school. She also uses my hair brush, lipstick and handkerchiefs. Don't you think I'd be justified in moving out some day when she is at work?"

A. It isn't necessary to put yourself on her level to prove your point. Tell her you have decided to live alone, would like to be paid your share of the furniture or make a deal on splitting the lot. It would be a good idea to find other living quarters before you strain relations.

Q. "My sister and I share a room and bath. There is a vanity in the bathroom, and she spends every waking minute in front of it. I cannot take a bath or wash my hair without begging her to get out. She is my mother's favorite, so I can't get help there. Her mirror mania makes me late for school and dates. Should I tell her friends and embarrass her into releasing the mirror?"

A. Why not get into the bathroom before her some morning, take a leisurely bath, and wash your hair and ignore her pleas. Maybe she'll realize another's dilemma in the same situation.

Q. "What would you do if your roommate talked on the phone all evening so that you could not get a call or invite anyone in? We live in a one-room apartment, attending school a few miles away."

A. I'd ask her to agree to two phones. When she considers having the entire responsibility of one phone she may not be willing to tie it up. Or have a friend call you each evening just as you get home, then have a long-winded conversation yourself.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

There's Good in Everything!

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when a boy calls you his "buddy" but you want to be closer than that?

This boy calls me almost every night. He always tells me his troubles and asks for my advice. But when a school dance or something like that comes along, he always asks another girl to go. What should I do?

ONLY A BUDDY
DEAR "BUDDY": Rarely does a romance bud between a young man and the girl he calls his "buddy." Accept the probability that this boy likes you like a "sister," and don't drop him because the more "buddies" a girl has, the better her chances are for a boy friend. Every buddy has a buddy, and one of these buddies can become your beau!

DEAR ABBY: After 8 months of marriage I am seriously considering filing for divorce, but I want to know if you think I am right.

My husband was married before and has a ten-year-old son. The child lives with his mother. She refuses to accept the fact that she is no longer married to the boy's father. She will call here during the week to tell my husband that "Billy talked back," or "Billy said a naughty word." It seems to me that she should be able to handle these trivial matters herself.

Then, too, my husband goes to his ex-wife's apartment every Sunday to see the boy. He spends the entire day there, takes them to dinner, and comes home very late. All this time I sit alone, burning. I just can't take it any more. Is my marriage worth fighting for?

SECOND WIFE
DEAR SECOND WIFE: Why not ask your husband of eight months if he wants to go back to his first wife and son? Tell him why you ask, and be kindly about it if you can. Don't be bitter or resentful. The gravitational pull of a child is very strong, as it should be.

DEAR ABBY: My husband wrote me a letter from the Hawaiian Islands, where he is stationed. He said all the women there had "moo moos" and he was bringing one home for me. Is that some sort of cow?

PETTY CHIEF'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: No, it is a loose-fitting ladies' garment. And if the fad continues to spread, so will the ladies.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell that "let idiots marry idiots" idiot to be certain to follow his own advice and marry another idiot. I hope she turns out to be a "yesser" like his mother, as it's quite apparent he's like his father and needs someone to make him feel like a "big man."

C.K.

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3365 Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hijacked Liquor Truck Is Found by Deputies

CINCINNATI (AP) — A truckload of whisky and gin, hijacked from a loading dock in Cincinnati early Sunday, was discovered quickly by sheriff's deputies in adjoining Clermont County, police reported. Only 15 cases were missing of 1,000 on the truck when it left the dock, officers said. A watchman spotted the truck being taken and told police, who alerted Clermont County officers.

Mahaffey's 17 Strikeouts Aids 2 Shutouts for Phils

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Art Mahaffey's feat of striking out 17 Chicago Cubs, only one short of the major league record, in a Philadelphia shutout sweep Sunday overshadowed the early struggles in the pennant race.

Los Angeles clung to first place when San Francisco faltered and lost the second game to St. Louis. A Giant victory would have put them on top of the heap.

If it had not been for Mahaffey and Frank Sullivan, who teamed up with a startling pair of 1-0 and 6-0 shutouts for the last place Phillies, the big news might have been Milwaukee's Warren Spahn, who won game No. 289 on his 40th birthday. Spahn just missed a shutout when Don Hoak homered for Pittsburgh in the ninth, but he won 3-1.

Or it might have been Wally Moon, the spectacular Los Angeles Dodger who continued to slap those "moon shots" over the left field screen at the Coliseum. He hit another, his eighth homer of the season, all to the wrong field for a left-handed batter. Moon's hit gave him a .500 batting average and helped the league-leading Dodgers trim Cincinnati 5-1 on a six-hitter by Roger Craig.

San Francisco had a chance to take over first place after beating St. Louis 2-1 in the opener. The Giants took a 4-2 lead into the ninth inning of the second game but the Cardinals rose up with five runs in the ninth and got a split 7-4. Maury McDermott's pinch double drove in three big runs.

In the first four innings Mahaffey struck out nine men going to the ninth he had 16. He struck out the first man but fell one short of the record of 18 set by Bob Feller of Cleveland in 1938 and tied by Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers in 1949. Mahaffey allowed only four hits.

Although Dick Ellsworth allowed only three hits in the first game, the Phils beat him behind Sullivan when Bobby Gene Smith crashed a home run in the ninth.

Spahn was closing in on his 52nd shutout when Hoak hit his home run in the ninth. He gave up seven hits and struck out four, boosting his lifetime total to 2,985. Vern Law, the Pirates' 20-game winner last year, suffered his third straight defeat.

Moon continued his fantastic spring spurt in the Coliseum where he has hit safely in all 12 games. Don Demeter also homered for the Dodgers and Jerry Lynch smashed his second pinch homer for the Reds.

Just when the Giants appeared poised to take over first place, the Cardinals rose up with their five-run spurt in the ninth to grab the second game. McDermott, signed as a free agent to help the bullpen corps, smashed his three-run pinch double off relief man Jim Duffalo and saved the decision for Lindy McDaniel, although Mickey pitched the last inning himself.

Billy O'Dell, who failed in the second game, teamed up with rookie Bob Bolin to put down a Cardinal uprising in the first game and saved the verdict for Sam Jones.

Detroit stretched its winning streak to seven Sunday and opened up a half game lead in the American League on the Minnesota Twins.

Manager Bob Scheffing's Tigers, who lost their opener, polished off the Los Angeles Angels in both ends of a doubleheader. Jim Donohue, 22, a right-hander who didn't figure to stick with the big club, figured prominently in both of Sunday's victories, 3-1 and 3-1 in 11 innings. The youngster, up from St. Paul, stamped out a ninth-inning rally and saved the first game for Bob Bruce. He won the second in relief of Jim Bunning.

Jack Kralick, a young lefty with a chance to be the No. 3 man on Minnesota's staff behind Pedro Ramos and Camilo Pascual, shut out Washington 1-0 with four hits. He also drove in the only run with a fifth-inning single that hung a third straight defeat on Dick (Tough Luck) Donovan.

Jackie Brandt and Brooks Robinson led a 13-hit attack by Baltimore in a 4-1 victory over the New York Yankees despite Mickey Mantle's fifth home run. Cleveland shaded Kansas City 10-8 with the help of a wild pitch and a throwing error in a game that set a new American League record and tied the major league mark with 14 pitchers (seven on each side) in action.

Bob Shaw, a stubborn holdout in spring training, pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 7-1 decision over Boston and an even break in a doubleheader. Tom Brewer won the first for Boston 4-3 although his arm tightened and he left the game after eight innings.

Scheffing, fired as boss of the Chicago Cubs in 1959, continued to get the most out of his Tigers. Bruce was two outs away from his first big league shutout when Ted Kluzevski homered and Bog Cerv double for the Angels. Scheffing brought in Terry Fox who hit two men, loading the bases. Donohue bailed him out by retiring pinch hitters Ken Hunt and Leo Burke on pop flies.

In the second game Dick Brown had a pinch single which won it in the 11th after the Angel pitchers loaded the bases on walks. Donohue, 6-4 and 190 pounds, succeeded Bunning who went out after 10 innings for pinch hitter Dick Gernert who tied the score a homer.

Kralick delighted 13,406 fans who ignored morning rain to watch the Twins play the Senators. After Billy Gardner doubled in the fifth, Kralick drove him home with a single. Donovan, beaten on errors opening day by Chicago and whipped by Cleveland after eight shutout innings, allowed only four hits.

Chuck Estrada, knocked out in the first inning last Sunday, came back and beat the Yankees with help from Dick Hall. Brandt and Brooks Robinson each had three hits off loser Danny McDevitt and three successors.

Shaw retired the first 14 men he faced and scattered nine hits after Tom Brewer won the opener for Boston in a steady drizzle. The A's lost when, with two on base in the ninth by walks, Joe Nuxhall's fourth ball to Johnny Temple was a wild pitch, letting a run score. Catcher Haywood Sullivan threw wildly, letting a second run come in. Wynn Hawkins was the winner.

Pender Itches For Shot at Gene Fullmer

BOSTON (AP) — Paul Pender today envisions a title-clearing showdown with Gene Fullmer in November between the pair of partial middleweight champions.

Relaxing after his third successful defense Saturday night against gallant Carmen Basilio, Pender admitted: "I want this Fullmer so bad I can taste it. I want to square this thing away."

Pender, 30, ex-fireman from Brookline, Mass., is considered the world's 160-pound king in Massachusetts, New York and Europe. Fullmer from West Jordan, Utah, is the 48-state National Boxing Association champion.

Promoter Sam Silverman—seeking a November Boston Garden date with an eye toward a $200,000 gate and as much as $150,000 more in television money—has been doing long distance negotiating with Mary Jensen, Fullmer's manager.

Basilio, onetime middleweight and welterweight ruler, blinked through a swollen face tattooed by Pender's left jabs and hooks and predicted Paul will not be able to beat Fullmer. Carmen, who had just lost a unanimous 15-round decision to Pender, twice had been stopped by Fullmer.

"I fought them both," Basilio said. "It would be a tough fight but Fullmer would win."

Pender did a convincing job on Basilio, 34, knocking him down for an eight count in the 13th round and nine count in the 15th before 12,168 Garden fans and a national TV audience. Basilio had not been floored in 78 pro bouts.

On the official cards, referee Eddie Bradley had Pender 149-135, judge Joe Blumsack 147-132 and judge Harry Sundberg 147-138.

UPSETTING, TO SAY THE LEAST—The Cards' Darryl Spencer goes into a hand-stand at the plate as he attempts to score during game with Dodgers in Los Angeles but it's no help for the Card infielder is out.

Hebert, Venturi Set for Playoff

Top Houston Purse To Go to Winner

HOUSTON (AP)—Jay Hebert met Ken Venturi in an 18-hole playoff today after picking up five strokes in the last five holes of the final round to gain a tie in the $40,000 Houston Golf Classic.

Hebert, the 1960 PGA champion, birdied three of the last four holes Sunday as Venturi, last year's second-leading money winner, took bogies on three of the last five.

Hebert, 38, closed his birdie spree with a 25-foot putt on the final green for a 67 and a 72-hole 276, four under par for the 7,122-yard par 70 Memorial Park course.

Venturi, 29, the Californian who has picked up over $151,000 in less than five years as a pro, missed a 30-foot putt that would have avoided the Classic's third straight playoff.

Hebert had earlier rounds of 69, 71, and 69. Venturi opened with a pair of 70s and closed with a pair of 68s.

Today's round was worth $17,000 to the winner, $3,600 to the loser. Venturi had shared the third round lead with Peter Thomson and Tommy Bolt. He took command in the final round with birdies on the first two holes and held the lead until he missed the long birdie on the final green.

Bolt took a bogie on 18 and collected $2,500 for third place at 278. Lionel Hebert, Jay's brother, was the only other player from a starting field of 107 pros to break par over 72 holes. He won $2,200 for 279. Julius Boros received $1,900 for a par 280. Thomson took a final round 75 to share a five-way tie at 283 with Arnold Palmer, Gary Pler, Paul Harey and Bill Casper Jr. Each received $1,200.

Sturgell Paces Cowboys-Cowgirls

Russ Sturgell rolled a 196 single and 535 series to cop individual scoring honors in the latest Cowboys-Cowgirls league competition at Prairie Lanes.

Mary Thomas led the women's singles scoring with a 172, while Nora McKinney topped series totals with a 474.

High team totals in both singles and sets were recorded by the Sturgell-Johnston combination, who hit a 640 game and 1,820 total.

4-Ply State Sports Carnival Slated To Get under Way

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's biggest sports carnival, a statewide four-day program involving 50,787 youngsters, is about to get under way.

It involves the sectional and district qualifiers for the Ohio high school spring sports championships scheduled May 26-27 at Ohio State University's athletic plant.

Before the kids get to the big payoff meet they must fight their way through 25 track qualifiers, 43 baseball tests, 13 golf tournaments and 9 tennis meets.

Making the run for the championships will be 25,843 boys on 757 track squads, 20,114 on baseball teams from 827 schools, 2,915 on 281 golf squads, and 1,915 on 145 tennis teams.

Baseball sectionals start May 6, some of the golf and tennis May 12, and all the tests must be concluded by the May 20 weekend to set the stage for the state championships.

The 13th AA track-field meet, with Cleveland Glenview as defending champion, has qualifiers slated at Columbus, Bellaire, Elyria, Cleveland, Willoughby, Salem, North Canton, Mansfield, Bowling Green, Athens, Dayton, Troy, Cincinnati and Oxford.

In Class A, won last year by Paulding, the preliminary tests are at Columbus, Bellaire, Cincinnati, Springfield, Elyria, Chagrin Falls, Athens, Bowling Green, Berea, Salem and Mansfield.

The huge baseball field, with Cincinnati Elder as the Class AA defending champion and Liberty Union the Class A king, wheels through large school sectional, district and regional qualifiers, cutting the list to four teams, at Columbus, Bridgeport, Steubenville, Dover, Philo, Cambridge, Cleveland, Youngstown, Barberton, Akron, North Canton, Defiance, Fremont, North Robinson, Perrysburg, Swanton, Toledo, Lima, Athens, Dayton, Springfield, Cincinnati and Oxford.

The Class A diamond hopefuls play at Cincinnati, Dayton, Piqua, Athens, Lima, New Knoxville, Kalia, Wauseon, Sycamore, North Robinson, Holgate, Clyde, Bettsville, Warren, Berea, Martins Ferry, Sugar Creek, Cambridge, Philo and Columbus. The baseball meet is the state's 34th.

There are no class distinctions in golf or tennis. Leading to the 35th golf tournament—in which Columbus Upper Arlington won the team title and Bob Carson of Columbus Whitehall the individual crown a year ago—preliminaries are booked at Columbus, St. Clairsville, Cleveland, Hubbard, Kent, Findlay, Swanton, Toledo, Jackson, Dayton, Cincinnati, Springfield and Oxford.

Tennis tests are slated at Columbus, Cleveland, Akron, Toledo, Lima, Mansfield, Sandusky, Dayton and Cincinnati, with the survivors going into the 42nd state tournament. A year ago Clark Graebner of Lakewood won the singles, and the doubles crown went to Walter Beatty and Dave Harrington of Middletown.

CHS-Logan Tilts Again Postponed

The Circleville Tigers scheduled double-header Saturday at Logan High School was postponed due to rain and generally bad field conditions.

The contests had originally been scheduled for April 15, but were rained out on that date also.

No new date has been set as yet for the twinbill.

The Tigers next game will be a home affair Thursday with SCO league rival Pleasant View. A non-league match with Lancaster is set here Friday.

Ohio Colt Championships
Slated at Delaware Track

DELAWARE — Five Ohio colt racing associations, representing 39 fairs, will send their top 3-year-old pacers and trotters to Delaware this fall to compete in a pair of Grand Circuit featured attractions.

H. C. (Hank) Thomson, Delaware's superintendent of speed and chairman of the Little Brown Jug Society, has invited the five colt groups to participate in two harness racing events to be known as the Ohio Colt Championships.

Thomson said that colt groups with seven or more member fairs will be represented by two 3-year-olds of each gait. Associations with at least five fairs will receive one bid for each gait.

The Ohio Colt Championships will be staged one day ahead of the internationally famous Little Brown Jug. This year's Jug is scheduled for Thursday afternoon Sept. 21.

Each of the invitational colt races will carry a purse of $3,000. There will be no entry fee.

Invitations will be issued on a point basis. Winner of each heat at the fairs which are members of the five circuits will receive 10 points. Colts which finish second through eighth will earn points that range 8, 7, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1.

The colt circuits are: Ohio Colt Racing Assn., Home Talent Colt Stakes Assn., Western Ohio Racing Assn., Northwestern Ohio Colt Stakes Assn., and Northern Ohio Colt Circuit.

The Ohio Colt Racing Assn. consists of 11 member fairs. They are located at Lebanon, Dayton, Owensville, Xenia, Lancaster, Greenville, Troy, Washington C.H.,

So Much for Girls

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor John Forsythe says his "Bachelor Father" tv series has swung away from the pure girl-chasing theme that dominated it at first.

"After 10 episodes we discovered we had no place to go," the actor says. "We encountered all kinds of problems."

"I won't rap other shows, but I watch Tab Hunter in his series and I have to feel sorry. We found out early that chasing girls — fun for fun's sake — isn't the answer on tv, unless you leaven it with a little reality."

Forsythe says his series now searches for "an elmt of esweetness, plenty of comedy — but still now and then a nice touching moment, a mood, and aura, an unspoken concern among those who feel something for each other."

Views on Television - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Guests on "What's My Line?" Sunday night were a young man who gives mud baths, a lady who counts fish in a government hatchery and Peter Ustinov, actor and Oscar winner.

The panel guessed two—the fish counter and the Oscar winner—which was about par for the show. But as far as the home audience was concerned, correct guesses were only incidental to the personalities and repartee.

In the sudden-death world of TV, this program runs along year after year as a Sunday night fixture. John Daly, Arlene Francis, Dorothy Kilgallen and Bennett Cerf are broadcasting institutions.

Some of us oldsters remember way back when a wisecracking man named Hal Block had Bennett's chair. We recall Fred Allen's seasons on the panel, too, and Steve Allen's. Nowadays, the No. 2 spot—where the Allens sat—is reserved for visitors who come and go. It's the four regulars that the viewers tune in to see.

The top prize money is still a tiny $50. It's a good-tempered, light-hearted, easy-to-follow show and will probably be around another dozen years.

"The Happiest Day," Sunday night's NBC play with music was a little fantasy about a guardian angel (gently played by Wally Cox) sent down to earth to solve the love and marriage problems of a melancholy working girl (Janis Paige).

He solved them in broadcasting's pet pattern: Our working girl discovered it wasn't the rich, smart, handsome smoothie with the penthouse (Craig Stevens) that she loved, but poor, honest and slightly idiotic Ralph (Jack Carson).

A trifle it was with a bit of music here and there, but also bits of comedy, homely philosophy and whimsy, all of which didn't mix so well.

Speaking of unsatisfactory mixers, there was Friday night's "Million Dollar Incident." Jackie Gleason apparently could not decide whether to play it for laughs, for melodramatics or for a demonstration of his acting powers. So he tried them all.

CBS should be grateful to Jackie's former manager, "Bullets" Durgom, for the advance publicity he gave the show with his law suit. The deletion of his name was hardly noticeable.

Recommended tonight: "The Americans," NBC, 7:30-8:30, EST —action-adventure series set in the Civil War period, with Charles Bickford as guest star.

Brimstone Succeeds

BANGOR, Maine (AP) — "Old Brimstone" removes as much snow from railroad yard switches in four minutes as a man can in 45.

That's why Bangor & Aroostook Railroad officials figure the self-propelled, flame-belching monster — a $23,000 investment — will pay for itself in about four years.

The B & A bought "Old Brimstone" to burn weeds along its right-of-way. Five nozzles, fed by diesel fuel at the rate of 187 gallons an hour, belch fire onto the ground. It was tried out on snow-clogged, ice-bound yard switches and worked so well the railroad figures it will cut appreciably its normal $20,000 a week snow removal charge.

Blood-Typing Importance Demonstrated

The importance of blood-typing for use in emergency cases was dramatically demonstrated at Berger Hospital recently.

Bert Gallian, an employee of the City Cab Co. was stricken with a severe hemorrhage and rushed to the hospital. He needed a blood transfusion immediately.

Mrs. Charles Eitel, a hospital employee, gave the first pint, but more was needed. A call to the Columbus Blood Center showed that not enough of Gallian's type of blood was available. Calls were then sent out to local donors.

Eleven persons responded promptly: Paul Adams, Mrs. Carl Radcliff, Jr., Mrs. Richard Davis, Mrs. Lewis Shauk, Lawrence Callahan, Harold Moffitt, Robert Kibler, Russell Gibbs, Arthur Thomas, James R. Franklin and Mrs. Francis Donohoe.

IN all, six pints were used. The need was met because local people had been typed in advance. Otherwise, no help could have reached the patient in time.

Gallian is now back at work. He commented, "This blood-typing, done previously, was the means of saving my life."

Laos, known as the "land of the million elephants," shares 1,000 miles of frontier with Red China and North Viet Nam. The country won independence from France in 1953.
